

Learning Recovery Survey Questions: For Families

Supplemental Panorama survey content for back to school 2021-22

Understand parent and caregiver perceptions of what their children need academically and socially-emotionally for learning recovery in the fall of 2021-22.

About These Survey Questions

Invite families into the decision-making process around programs and supports for learning recovery in 2021-22.

This new Panorama survey content can help you understand parent and caregiver perceptions of what their children need academically and socially-emotionally in the transition back to school. Use the feedback to understand concerns, respond to their needs, and lean into the expertise of families as their children return to in-person learning in the fall.

The questions in this document cover two topic areas:

- Learning Recovery \(p. 3\): Families' reflections on their students' learning from last year and its impact on learning this year
- Readiness for Learning \(p. 4\): Families' perceptions of their students' readiness for in-person learning this school year

If you are a Panorama partner, these survey questions are available as supplemental content to add to your Panorama family surveys in the fall. The questions follow best practices in survey question design. If you are not yet a Panorama partner, contact us to learn more about our survey platform. We invite all educators to use these open-source questions, but ask that you please credit Panorama Education.
